Fragrance description:

The composition is rich, creamy, and intensely gourmand, with medium to strong intensity and stable diffusion. The scent profile is sweet, chocolatey, and warmly spicy, with a pronounced impression of winter desserts and cozy confectionery accords.

The opening is built around a combination of warm chocolate, cocoa butter, and apple. Warm chocolate provides a deep and rich cocoa fullness, cocoa butter contributes a creamy and velvety texture, while apple introduces a light fruity freshness and a subtle tart nuance that balances the gourmand density of the composition.

In the heart, a pronounced dessert–spicy accord develops, dominated by hazelnut, biscuit, and cinnamon. Hazelnut adds a warm nutty richness, biscuit evokes the aroma of freshly baked pastries, while cinnamon introduces a distinctive spicy warmth and additional aromatic depth. This combination forms an intense and harmonious heart with a strong festive and confectionery character.

The base structure is built on vanilla, condensed milk, and coffee. Vanilla provides warm and creamy sweetness, condensed milk enhances the milky and gourmand effect of the composition, while coffee contributes a dark aromatic depth and a subtle bitter sophistication. The dry-down is rich, creamy, and long-lasting, with a pronounced sense of warmth and sensorial fullness.

The dominant accords of this composition include chocolate gourmand, spicy warm, creamy vanilla, and coffee sweet facets, which together form an intense and highly commercially appealing fragrance character. The gourmand and spicy aspects remain dominant throughout the evolution of the scent, while the base ensures stability and extended longevity.
